National and international congress for nursing managers and nursing science

The organisations, ENDA (European Nurse Directors Association) and WANS (World Academy of Nursing Science), have made the further development of nursing and promotion of the scientific aspects of this field their principal task. Another function is the organisation of a communication platform in order to be able to exchange experiences and information between nursing managers and their organisations.

Under the Motto: „Connecting worlds“, ENDA invites you together with WANS, to the 12th national and international congress to Lower Saxony in the regional Capital City Hanover. The congress takes place from 14.-17.10.2015 in the “Niedersachsenhalle (Lower Saxony Hall)”

The main topics are:

- Old and Young in the demographical forum
- East and West in the intercultural forum
- Thick and Thin in the nutritional forum
- Nursing and Others in the interdisciplinary forum

The Congress offers an excellent chance to connect with professionals and decision makers, who generally engage themselves in all aspects of strategic and operational management on a managerial level. Representatives from organisations within the health system and managers will also participate. The international constellation of all participants enables the presentation of their theme based products and services to a wide audience with decision-making authority. The congress will be accompanied and supported by a goal-oriented media presence.
